GETTING INTERNET AS A NEWCOMER IN CANADA

Apart from food, water, and shelter, the fourth necessity these days is a running internet connection. As a newcomer in Canada, you would need a proper internet connection to keep in touch with people, for entertainment, and for work. A lot of newcomers get confused as to how to get an internet connection in Canada.

Don't worry, we are here to help you. The first and foremost thing is to look at the various plans offered by the different service providers. The top internet service providers in Canada are –

- Rogers Communication
- Telus
- Shaw Communication
- TekSavvy
- Cogeco
- Eastlink
- Bell Canada

FACTORS TO CONSIDER WHEN CHOOSING AN INTERNET PROVIDER

Keep these factors in mind when choosing an internet provider in Canada –

- Speed

Internet speed plays a crucial role for a seamless experience. Make sure to check the internet speed that the service provider offers in your area so that you don't face any hassles.

- Price

Compare the prices of plans from various service providers, so that you get the best deal and most benefits.

- Customer service

It is easy to purchase an internet plan, but in case you face any issues later, it is the customer service team that you have to deal with. Read their reviews online to know how friendly and efficient the customer service team of the internet service provider is.

DOCUMENTS NEEDED

To apply for a new internet connection in Canada, you need the following documents –

- Proof of identity
- Proof of address
- Contact information
- Social Insurance Number (SIN)
- Payment information
- Service agreement
